

RESPECT Assistantship Award

Master of Science in Business Analytics Program

College of Business Administration, Cal Poly Pomona

Purpose: The purpose of the RESPECT award is to recognize good citizenship behavior demonstrated by MSBA student scholars. This award epitomizes values promoted by the CBA in general, and the MSBA program in particular. These include resilience, ethics, sportspersonship/team player, peer mentorship, engagement, conscientiousness, and take charge/initiative taking attitude.

If you believe that you or some other MSBA student deserves this honor, we strongly encourage you to take out some time to nominate that individual. Anyone including faculty, students, or staff of the MSBA program can nominate. Self-nominations are also welcome.

RESPECT Description

Resilient: Student demonstrates an ability to withstand adversity, bounces back and persists despite obstacles. He/she strives to achieve academic and career goals and pushes beyond the limits

Ethical: Student possesses sound values, good judgment, a sense of fairness, and has earned the respect of his/her peers

Sportspersonship/team player: Student is collaborative, a team player who places team's success above his/her need for personal advancement

Peer Mentor: Student encourages and motivates fellow classmates, is eager to provide help, supports fellow peers, shares knowledge and provides guidance as relevant

Engaged: Student demonstrates passion and dedication for data analytics and an active engagement in the MSBA program (Participation in projects and speaker series, shows initiatives, etc.)

Conscientious: Student is diligent, responsible, organized, and dependable

Take Charge/Initiative taker: Student is proactive, an effective leader who takes charge, and goes the extra mile
